JEALOUS HUSBAND USED A REVOLVER

Waited for Former Boarder and Tried to Kill Him Full of Lead.

Up to a month ago Morris Goshkoss, aged twenty-eight, was a boarder in the home of Emil Peppinap, at No. 21 East One Hundred and Sixth street. Peppinap is a barber and works downtown. While he was out, so he told the police of the Tremont station, his boarder used to take his wife out to little trips.

The barber became jealous and his boarder was asked to leave. Goshkoss moved to No. 8 Shields street, not very far away, but the barber watched him and yesterday caught him coming out of his home. He said nothing at the time, but this morning he armed himself with a big 44 revolver and waited for his late boarder.

When Goshkoss came out to go to work the barber opened fire. Goshkoss fled up White Plains road with bullets whistling all around him. One of them hit him in the right arm, inflicting a slight wound. By this time the noise of the shooting had attracted the attention of Patrolmen O'Connor, who arrested Peppinap.

At the Tremont station Peppinap went and denounced Goshkoss. The barber was arraigned later in the Westchester Court charged with felonious assault.

POLICE STOP WORK ON LONG ISLAND TUNNEL.

Queens County Officials Will Not Permit Contractors to Rip Open Streets.

Fourth street, between Jackson and Vernon avenues, Long Island City, looked like a section of Paris during a May day riot, when twenty policemen to-day drove away the laborers employed by the Long Island Railroad tunnel contractors.

The police mounted guard over the big excavating machines and kept away all persons who might want to dig. The action of the police followed the discovery by James W. Hicks, Superintendent of Highways in Queens, that the tunnel borers were about to violate the terms of the permit that had been granted them.

They are supposed to do their work entirely under the surface, but Mr. Hicks learned that they were about to dig up the roadway. This would result in tearing up Fourth street in the way Manhattan streets were ripped open in building the Subway.

The contractors this afternoon conferred with Supt. Hicks to learn just how far he will permit them to go. Until they promise to be good the police will prevent work.

Don't Poison Baby.

Forty years ago almost every mother thought her child must have PAREGORIC or laudanum to make it sleep. These drugs will produce sleep, and a FEW DROPS TOO MANY will produce the SLEEP FROM WHICH THERE IS NO WAKING. Many are the children who have been killed or whose health has been ruined for life by paregoric, laudanum and morphine, each of which is a narcotic product of opium. Druggists are prohibited from selling either of the narcotics named to children at all, or to anybody without labeling them "poison." The definition of "narcotic" is: "A medicine which relieves pain and produces sleep, but which in potent doses produces stupor, coma, convulsions and death." The taste and smell of medicines containing opium are disguised, and sold under the names of "Drops," "Cordials," "Soothing Syrups," etc. You should not permit any medicine to be given to your children without your or your physician's knowledge of what it is composed. CASTORIA DOES NOT CONTAIN NARCOTICS, it is bears the signature of J. C. H. Fitcher.

Genuine Castoria always bears the signature of J. C. H. Fitcher.
